

You know, sometimes you don't want to eat at a fancy place where you have to act a certain way, where you can't laugh out loud, and where you have to pay big bucks for a mediocre meal.

But you can relax at Enrico's, and their food is great too. It's casual, and they just make you feel welcome. You can eat what you want without having to worry about anything else. You can go there with your friends, and of course your family, even on Sundays, when they have family dinners.

They're Italian, so they have all the dishes you expect: pastas, ravioli, pizza, Italian beef and other sandwiches, and soups, of course, including their minestrone Italian vegetable soup. Their menu is vast, so you'll be able to find what you want.

You can see the menu and order what you want at enricositalian.com, or dine in: they're located in Frankfort, at 21027 South LaGrange Road. They make it easy: you don't need reservations, and they know what they're doing, because they've been there for 35 years.