A recent U.S. government study has revealed that autism is the most common childhood development disorder, affecting one in every 91 American children. But many students with autism are not having their needs met in public education programs, so there need to be quality alternatives.

Turning Pointe Autism Foundation is a non-profit organization committed to improving the lives of all those affected by autism, and Turning Pointe is developing a state-of-the-art campus community in Naperville. For more information, go to turningpointeautismfoundation.org. That's point, with an e.
